

Since the NJ "Do Not Call" law went into effect, my family has been able to sit down to dinner without receiving unwanted calls from telephone solicitors. We stopped answering the phone at that hour. And, when my stepmother called to tell me my father was in the hospital, I didn't pick up the phone.

I like the "do not call" law in NJ. It has returned our telephones to their rightful owners. I would be very unhappy about any change that would weaken this law.
